

CERTIFIED NCS CONSULTANT

HOW I USE THE NCS PROGRAM TO HELP CLIENTS:

Thanks to the flexibility of the NCS program, I work not only with top management but also with the companies' employees on all hierarchical levels who benefit tremendously from this future-oriented, neuroscience-based concept of personal and organizational change.

Never before has cultural transformation been so important for a successful organization. Stress management, a mindset of collaboration, conscious caring, compassion, and trust are the major keys to success of any company. This is what I want to achieve and where the NCS program leads.

SELECTED CLIENTS I HAVE WORKED WITH:

HOW I'VE HELPED CLIENTS USING THE NCS PROGRAM:

In light of ongoing and ever faster change, organizations are facing enormous challenges which can be handled more easily by providing the NCS program and tools to their staff, thus strongly assisting the necessary organizational change processes.

Therefore, I am integrating the NCS program into my day-to-day consulting work with my clients. Specifically in the banking and tourism sectors in Europe, new ways of thinking, motivation, and stress reduction on all levels are extremely important to overcome the high fluctuation and tough challenges in the market.

This is the alternative training for management and employees that human resources departments are desperately looking for, to support them in creating a constructive working climate, positive thinking, and pro-active co-workers who are motivated to achieve the organizations' goals.
