„Understand your Brain ... Create your Life“
by
Dr. Danijela DEBELIĆ & Dr. Hans STEINBICHLER

Also based on the medical research and measurements of clients during
Dr. Joe Dispenza's workshops and his NCS-NeuroChangeSolutions Concept

Date:

DUBAI – November, 30th and December 1st

LOCATION: to be nominated

The workshop is addressed to everybody who seeks sustainable change, reorientation or advancement on a personal level or in their company.

Participants get to understand how the interaction of thoughts and bio-chemical processes in our body can cause change together with problem solving in everyday life as well as on the different levels of corporate management.

A concept which elevates not just your personal development but also your professional life to another level!

Employees are the fundamental capital of corporations. In this regard they are the key to success. Changes in the environment and society have a direct – often stress - impact on changes on private levels and on companies.

The neuro-scientific models explained in this workshop show the power of neural potentials and present tools, which allow sustainable change on personal, communicational and emotional levels, thus generating immediate stress relief.

This training is easy, immediate and lasting to be transferred into everyday life and is proven to effectively improve your living quality.

A change from the inside out!

- Introduction of the basics of neuroscience
- Conscious and unconscious thinking – placebo effects

- Interaction of body and brain
- Stress management by thought management

- Learning various tools (techniques) to realize the changes in your life
- Improvement of quality of living by tuning and designing brain waves
 - A look inside your brain (brain-mapping)

The above mentioned topics will be imparted by lectures, interactive exercises and 5 easy to learn and to implement techniques. The workshop offers the latest neuroscientific insights but still is very practise-orientated.

It also contains QEEG (Quantitative Electroencephalogram) Analysis, based on brain-mapping measurements, which is an accurate evaluation technique to recognize the current brain activity, electrical brain-wave energy level and real time progress, when measured during specific tasks (e.g. mindfulness training, neurofeedback, mental rehearsals, etc.)

Marie Quinton,
Cisco EMEAR Sales Enablement Team, Manager, Operations

I am thoroughly satisfied with the outcome of the workshop to help my team create our new future. In a 60 day post workshop follow up survey, 100% of my team confirmed they have been able to apply what they learned in their work. I know that the workshop and the impact it had on the team has been a factor in getting our team on track and focused to deliver against our vision and strategy. The facilitator's dedication to applying our real life situation into the content was outstanding. I will recommend this to peers and colleagues.

Today's successful businesses need to understand the dynamics of the individuals it employs and how they shape the organization and culture – not necessarily the other way around. NCS work quickly dives in to help people understand their current behavior and then craft a plan to alter it, leading to more balanced and productive lives.

Peter Edge

President & CEO, RCA Records Sony Music Entertainment

This training taught us what change is and how to use the power of our brain to create and sustain it. The simple, down-to-earth approaches enabled our leadership team to shift our mindset to enable a greater level of creativity and innovation to face the challenges awaiting us... We developed communication and relationship skills to apply to the unique opportunities we faced. We dared to be different. Our people feel different which has greatly contributed to our unprecedented success... We created better, more thoughtful leaders

Joanna Maurelli

Talent Development Manager Johns Manville

The NCS course really prompted thought change in our global HR&C team. The program made us aware of how we limit ourselves as individuals and teams, and why our organization's cultural patterns are so strongly ingrained. As we all change and grow within our company, the NCS applications provide us with the understanding of how each and every employee at all levels within the organization can change unproductive habits by modifying their thinking and then align that thinking with more effective actions. We can, therefore, make our teams and the organization more aware, flexible, productive, and ultimately, stronger

Dipl. BW Claudia Beermann,

CFO FMTG – Falkensteiner Michaeler Tourism Group

After having attended this impressive workshop in Vienna, we are currently integrating this human resources development concept in our Falkensteiner Academy in order to strengthen the potentials of our staff and management levels, through which our international group reaches a better basis for future developments and continuous growth.

Margit Stotter-Nothdurfter,

Manager Hotel Gribelehof

The workshop in Lienz (Austria) took place in a very comfortable atmosphere. You are invited to take time for yourself and reflect private and business topics. As a manager of our family-owned hotel and mother of two children, this border is often blurring for me and therefore, I could profit on both sides and can implement positive change in my life from now on.
